Introduction

The high performance leadership behaviour framework

Getfeedback's 360° feedback survey utilises a framework containing 11 behaviours that have been identified as being key for effective management and leadership. It is known as the high Performance leadership framework.

Individuals who display strengths in these behaviours achieve greater personal career success; have a greater impact on their organisation's performance; and handle the demands and ambiguity associated with modern dynamic work environments. Note: A high-performing individual would be expected to display strengths in 5-6 of the 11 behaviours. A high-performing group/team should display strengths in all of the behaviours.

The 11 behaviours of the leadership framework are clustered into four key areas so that success can be seen to be achieved in four key ways:

Overview of the report

This report has been designed to provide a clear indication of the strengths and development areas for the group. Armed with this information the group will be able to make accurate decisions as to how to work more effectively together by leveraging the strengths of the team and how to develop in weaker areas.

The report is broken down into the following sections:

Group details
